DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is unclear as to the orientation and location of the main blade relative to the other recited elements.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4, 6, ¹⁰11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Astrom ('311).

Astrom ('311) discloses (1) a milling cutter, comprising: a cutter body provided with a plurality of insert seats (8); and a cutting insert (9) having a hexahedral shape and inserted into and fastened to each of the insert seats in either of two directions, wherein the cutting insert comprises: a through hole (10) formed in the cutting insert from an upper surface to a lower surface of the cutting insert; and first and second cutting blade parts (19,19') having the same shape and provided on first and second ends of the cutting insert, respectively, wherein the insert seats are radially formed inwards around a circumferential outer surface of the cutter body and are spaced apart from each other at regular intervals, and each of the insert seats comprises first and second locking holes respectively formed on first and second inner surfaces of the insert seat, so that the cutting insert is fastened to the insert seat by a locking screw which is tightened into the first or second locking hole of the insert seat after passing through the through hole of the cutting insert. With respect to claims 4 and 6, Astrom discloses rounded corner blades H1 and H2; and an inclined blade surface formed by the countersink (28)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 5 and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Astrom ('311).

With respect to claim 5, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the different portions of the main blades of whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47. It appears that there would be no new or unexpected result from such a modification.

With respect to claims 7 and 8, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the cutting insert of whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47. It appears that there would be no new or unexpected result from such a modification.

With respect to claim 9, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the claimed ratio, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

In regard to claim 13, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the cutting insert blade with four edges, since it has been held that mere duplication of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. St. Regis Paper Co. v. Bemis Co., 193 USPQ 8. It appears that there would be no new or unexpected result from such a modification.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 7/19/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
